POST-CONFERENCE TRIP

Saturday, May 30, to Friday, June 5. Old Point Comfort, the James River, and Richmond. $30.00, including All Expenses for Six Days.

A restful, delightful and historic six-day trip has been arranged by the Travel Committee, leaving Washington Saturday evening, May 30, by steamer down the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay, spending two days at Old Point Comfort, under the very walls of Fortress Monroe, with possible easy trips to Hampton where there is a soldiers' home, and the famous Hampton Institute for the education of negroes and Indians. Norfolk and Newport News are near by; and the harbor of Hampton Roads, where the "Monitor" and "Merri-mac" met in combat, is just at hand.

Then we have the famous and delightful all-day sail up the James River to Richmond, stopping a few minutes at noon-time to see the remains of Jamestown, the original English settlement.

Two days and three nights in Richmond will give opportunity to get acquainted with that interesting city of 150,000 inhabitants, rich in historic associations concerning the Civil War, the Revolution, and the first English settlers. Capitol Square, with the State Capitol, is near the hotel. "The White House of the Confederacy," the home of Jefferson Davis during his life in Richmond, is now a Confederate museum, and of great interest. In St. John's church, Twenty-fifth and Broad Sts., the convention met in 1775, in which Patrick Henry made his famous speech, saying, "Give me liberty or give me death." Within a short distance from the city are many battlefields of the Civil War. Electric cars run out to Seven Pines battlefield.

Leaving Richmond, Friday morning, June 5, the party goes by rail to Washington, where trip ends at noon.

Register for this trip at once with F. W. Faxon, 83 Francis St., Fenway, Boston, Mass. $30.00, the cost of the trip, based on two in a room without bath, may be sent to him by check or handed to him in Washington on or before May 27. Those desiring room alone for the five nights in hotels for this trip, add $3.00. Those wishing room with bath for the five nights, add $3.00. Those desiring stateroom alone on steamer from Washington to Old Point Comfort, add $1.00.

WASHINGTON RESTAURANTS

For the convenience of members whose hotel accommodations may be on the European plan or who may be in rooming houses not serving meals, it seems desirable to furnish a list of restaurants in the vicinity of headquarters. In a matter of taste like this one may be rash to attempt anything that seems like making recommendations. From the following list the hotels given in the March bulletin are omitted, although they naturally serve meals. Indeed, generally speaking, the hotels have the best restaurants. The classification is rough and there are, of course, degrees within each subdivision. Very likely there are sins of omission, commission and classification.

In view of the fact that there are about 30,000 government employes in Washington, practically all of whom have only 30 minutes for luncheon, the restaurants of Washington are primarily conducted for them. Light luncheons therefore prevail. The list follows:

Somewhat Expensive

Harvey's, 1016 Penna. Ave. (makes a specialty of sea foods).
 Gerstenberg's, 1343 Penna. Ave. (German cooking).
 Losekam, 1323 F St.
 Tea Cup Inn, 822 Conn. Ave. (12-8 p. m.)

Moderate Prices

Canton Chinese Café, 510 14th St.
 Capitol—restaurants in both House and Senate.
